LOST REALITY (ITALY)

Exciting. This is the most appropriate adjective to define the return of Garmo and Kaos K, both components of the Italian project Lost Reality. The duo's music incorporates since 1996 electro-Rock and Darkwave elements that immediately catch you by their elegance, by their harmonious appeal and by their depth, for sounds able to conquer even the most discerning listeners.

After the previous full-length "Roboid 371304" published in the year 2012, here is the new album "Fleeting Awareness" which ten tracks promise to amaze you more incisively through a variable deployment of modulations ranging from solid constructions made of pulsing drum-programming, desperate voice and electric guitar, until nocturne downtempo ballads created through symphonies of keyboards, sequencers and shadowy chants that externalize in their tones and in their lyrics a great sadness and inner torment. Emotions, electronic melody and conspicuous doses of electricity are the prerogatives of a release of wonderful beauty and of strong personality that deserves to be announced with all the honors. "Fleeting Awareness" is the decisive confirmation of Lost Reality: be you too the protagonists of this extraordinary event!
